

CALIFORNIA PROPOSITION 65 DECLARATION

Direct Components is an independent distributor of electronics components and therefore chemicals used in the components, or the manufacturing of components sold by Direct are used at the discretion of the manufacturer.

Direct does not introduce any chemicals or materials that it sells or have knowledge of the specific applications of the products by the end customer therefore requirements of the State of California's Proposition 65, the Safe Drinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act, remain the responsibility of the manufacturer and the customer.

Direct Components recommend customers review the Proposition 65 regulation to determine the appropriate methods for design and engineering of the customers' own products and the requirements for compliance concerning Proposition 65. The decision to include or not include a Proposition 65 notice (label) must ultimately rest with the customer.

Additional information concerning Proposition 65 can be found at the following web Sites: <https://oehha.ca.gov/proposition-65/about-proposition-65>

Best Regards,

Natalie Paull

Quality Systems Manager

qc@directics.com